

Tony S. Haslinger

Senior Vice President Construction

Tony Haslinger joined Phillips Edison & Company in July 2013 as a Project Manager and was promoted to Vice President of Construction in 2014. He currently serves as Senior Vice President of Construction, where he oversees the planning, design, and execution of retail construction projects. In this role, Tony collaborates with both national retailers and local business owners to deliver high-quality, tailored construction solutions.

Prior to joining Phillips Edison, Tony held development roles with several prominent real estate firms, including Houston-based Hines, Nashville-based Gaylord Entertainment (now part of Marriott International), and Jacksonville-based Regency Centers. His diverse experience spans retail, hospitality, office, and mixed-use commercial real estate projects.

Tony is active member of ICSC and previously served on the ICSC Centerbuild Board of Trustees. Tony holds a Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering and an MBA from Purdue University.
